

The Pass of Brander beside Loch Awe in Argyll. Here in August 1308 Robert the Bruce and his allies defeated the Clan MacDougall forces blocking this Pass against their entry into the lands of the clan and its allies in Argyll. Clan leader Sir John of Lorn was aboard a galley in the loch. This was the last land battle by the clan in Scotland but Sir John carried on fighting until his death in England in 1317.